Hi folks,

I put together a bunch of into in one document. One really notable element is that today I spent time looking at a charity Leidig claims to have started, Journalism Without Borders. It may be a scam. I am not 100 percent sure yet, but there are so many shady aspects of it. It 's in the doc.

I tried to collect all the stuff I have related to the CEN stories, and also the background info I have on CEN and Leidig. I also found two pics of him, and there are some new leads in there of people to speak with.

My suggestion would be that you folks add in what you have and we use it as a master document to work from. I think we 're close to getting ready to approach some of the sources I 've identified as well as some of the others. And also Leidig.

Hopefully we can wrap up all the story investigation and background stuff by early next week and then do the final calls so we can pull it all together. Maybe we aim to have a full draft done that first week in March? I 'm happy to work on pulling stuff together.

Best regards,
Craig
